To
The BERKELEY PRIZE
University of California
Berkeley

Prof. Ajay Khare, Professor of Architecture at our Institute is applying for the Berkeley Prize Teaching Fellowship. The topic of Prof. Ajay Khare's proposal is 'Universal Design for Cultural Interface at Sacred Site of Ujjain in Madhya Pradesh, India.' Our Institute located at Bhopal, Central India is committed to Social Sustenance and Sustainable Development and has been spear-heading campaigns to disseminate these issues and establish architecture as social art.

The Institute whole-heartedly supports the application of Prof. Ajay Khare for this award. Please note our Under-Graduate degree programme in architecture is of five years and divided into 10 semesters. As we understand, the award of Teaching Fellowship is for one full academic year and we agree that architectural design studio which is a course of highest credit of three out of ten in our Under-Graduate Programme will be part of this Fellowship Award. The proposed Teaching Fellowship will extend for two semesters of B.Arch. Third Year for 75 students.

The competent authority has given approval to the proposal and the school will provide all possible support for conducting this special course of extreme importance for our State of Madhya Pradesh.

Thanking you.

Sincerely,

Dr. Sanjeev Singh
